*Melanie Wilder
Wild Earth Textiles*

Melanie is a weaver, spinner, natural dyer and educator. She has spent the past 25 years dedicated to learning and teaching, living in the Asheville, NC area where she currently runs the fiber program at Warren Wilson College. She is interested in exploring how process crosses into our daily lives and how intentional choices can help shape our footprint on the future. This involves the yearly rhythm of growing fibers and dyes and how the textiles made from these plants create ritual and meaning.

Melanie lives in Swannanoa, NC.
